Vom Ende zum Anfang

Studien zum Johannesevangelium. Kleine Schriften IV Edited by Ruben A. Bühner

This volume includes 30 studies on the Gospel of John by Jörg Frey, written between 2009 and 2021, with a new introduction. The essays focus on programmatic topics, such as the logic of Johannine theology and the character of the gospel as a narrative memory of Jesus. Further highlighted are problems of Johannine Christology, such as the multiple resonances of the term 'logos', incarnation, and Docetism, while exemplary interpretations on the semeia narratives, the passion and Easter narrative, along with theological topics, including the discourse on God, faith and love, dualism and the understanding of 'the world' are also provided. The volume is concluded with studies on the context of the Gospel of John, the development of early Christianity in Ephesus, the 'Parting of the Ways' between Jews and Christians, the issue of Jewishness and a corresponding Johannine anti-Judaism.
