

Johannes Eichenhofer, Christoph Gusy

Polizei- und Ordnungsrecht

The huge developments in recent years of federal and state laws as well as case law are dealt with in the latest edition of this indispensable textbook. While matters arising from the field of information technology and newly granted powers are paid particular attention, the volume's central concern of identifying and conveying basic structures in an increasingly differentiated legal system remains intact. In addition, regulatory issues relating to the fight against pandemics are presented.

Johannes Eichenhofer ist Professor für Öffentliches Recht, insbesondere Recht der Digitalisierung der Verwaltung an der Universität Leipzig.

Christoph Gusy ist Professor für Öffentliches Recht, Staatslehre und Verfassungsgeschichte an der Universität Bielefeld.
