

Hans M. Müller

Bekenntnis - Kirche - Recht

Gesammelte Aufsätze zum Verhältnis Theologie und Kirchenrecht

Since the Reformation, research in theology and jurisprudence has focused on the legal form of the church and the definition of its theological character, a fact which has at times given rise to controversy and has caused some estrangement between theologians and legal experts in the Protestant religion. These have had an effect on church legislation and the application of the law, on the relationship between the church and the state and on the method of dealing with individual questions pertaining to current controversial issues. Hans Martin Müller attempts to mediate between the theological and the legal points of view in ecclesiastical law and the profession of faith. The purpose of his study is to examine the significance of theology for the practice of governing the church and for the Protestant understanding of the office of the church as well as the connection between the concept of the church and the church order.

Hans M. Müller Geboren 1928; Studium der evangelischen Theologie in Hamburg, St. Peter (Minnesota) und Erlangen; 1956 Promotion; 1972-79 Oberlandekirchenrat in Hannover; 1979-94 Professor für Praktische Theologie in Tübingen; seit 1994 im Ruhestand.

2005. XIII, 460 pages. JusEccl 79

ISBN 978-3-16-162876-4

DOI 10.1628/978-3-16-162876-4

eBook PDF €89.00

ISBN 978-3-16-148797-2

cloth €89.00

Order now:

<https://www.mohrsiebeck.com/en/book/bekenntnis-kirche-recht-9783161628764/>

Phone: +49 (0)7071-923-17

Fax: +49 (0)7071-51104