

Petrusliteratur und Petrusarchäologie

Römische Begegnungen Edited by Martin Wallraff and Jörg Frey

Martin Wallraff und Jörg Frey (Hg.)

Petrusliteratur und Petrusarchäologie

 Mohr Siebeck

2020. VI, 315 pages. RuP 4

ISBN 978-3-16-155889-4
sewn paper €54.00

ISBN 978-3-16-158198-4
DOI 10.1628/978-3-16-158198-4
eBook PDF €54.00

Peter was a central figure of emerging Christianity that has shaped an important branch of early Christian literature and has been linked to an early and equally important local tradition in Rome. However, both lines of the reception of Peter have only been linked occasionally, and at a relatively late point in time. In this volume, the authors deal with this from the perspective of New Testament texts and early church history. The articles discuss early Petrine literature within and outside of the New Testament and the Roman ecclesial and archaeological Petrine tradition since the second century.

Jörg Frey Geboren 1962; 1996 Dr. theol.; 1998 Habilitation (beides Tübingen); 2024 Dr. h.c. (Uppsala); war Professor in Jena (1998) und München (1999) und ist seit 2010 Professor für Neues Testament mit Schwerpunkten Antikes Judentum und Hermeneutik an der Universität Zürich und Research Associate am Department of Old and New Testament der University of the Free State, Bloemfontein (Südafrika).
<https://orcid.org/0000-0001-6628-8834>

Martin Wallraff Geboren 1966; 1996 Promotion; 2000 Habilitation; Professur für Ältere Kirchengeschichte an der Evangelisch-Theologischen Fakultät der Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München.
<https://orcid.org/0000-0003-1085-8601>

Order now:
<https://www.mohrsiebeck.com/en/book/petrusliteratur-und-petrusarchaeologie-9783161558894/>
Phone: +49 (0)7071-923-17
Fax: +49 (0)7071-51104